New York Stock Market

New York, February 1.—Although stocks moved actively to-day and trading was heavy, net changes in most cases were not large. The eccentricities of the market of late were emphasized to-day by its entire lack of stability and its rapid and perplexing changes in appearance. The market was on an upward swing when the session came to an end, and final prices showed a majority of gains. The market increase in speculative activity during the last two days, on which trading was by far the heaviest of the year, is still without an explanation which finds reneral acceptance. Prices were forced below the low point of yesterday, and United States Steel touched 58 5-8, the lowest price since last November. The most propounced unward movements oc-States Steel touched 55 5-5, the lowest price since last November. The most pronounced upward movements occurred at the opening and just before the close. Built traders attempted to make capital of reports from Washington that the proposed investigation of the "money trust" would be either abandoned or postponed and succeeded in lifting prices substantially.

Reading developed exceptional strength in he late trading and rose 31-2 points on the day. of Paul, New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Atchison, American Smeiting, United States Steel, and a number of others gained a point or more on the day's move-

Can You Answer?

If a man dies without leaving a will, what does the wife inherit and what do the children get? If he has no children, to what part of the estate is the wife entitled?

If a wife dies and leaves an estate and no will, what does the husband get, and what the children?

Can a man leave more to one child than to another? Can a wife make a will and cut off her husband and children, if so, to what extent?

These are some of the questions. The blue leaflet also gives the answers to these and asks other questions and gives the answers. All are interesting to men and women of property.

Ask or write for the "BLUE LEAFLET." Sent free on request.
